Description:

Architects Roberto Biscontini and Lorenzo Argento immerse us in a universe of refinement on this 60-foot-high yacht.

With its hull of about 18 meters, the Oceanis Yacht 60 shows a refined and contemporary silhouette preserving an elegant design and very good seafaring qualities.

Exterior design:

The two steering positions have been optimized so that all maneuvers can be carried out without leaving the bar: control of the trajectory, adjustment of the sails and access to the electric winch. On-board systems such as « Ship Control » and « Seanapps » allow you to pilot all systems on board and quietly manage maintenance.

The biminl is available in 2 versions. The rigid version articulated on the structural arch allows the crew to find the best compromise between protection and ventilation.

Interior design:

The kitchen, in the center of the boat, unfolds in its entire width: to the back the storage and the cold; to the stirrboard, the sink, the oven and the dishwasher. The stowages are abundant and the linear work plan, unpublished.

The large living room where six people can comfortably settle around the table, in front of a soft sofa, ideal for relaxing in the sea or in anchoring. The arched chart table in a circle allows the navigator to participate in all on-board debates.
